Since the Beijing World Conference on Women in 1995, gender training remains a key policy and programme response to address a wide range of perceived needs to make gender mainstreaming happen. In many respects, it has become a cure-all to address the many challenges gender mainstreaming entails. Seen as a missing element, repeated calls for gender training reflect a ‘more of the same but better’ approach to addressing the limitations of gender mainstreaming (Milward et al., 2015).

This six-month certificate programme, offered by KIT and UN Women Training Centre, aims to:

- Sharpen training skills and knowledge of gender and development concepts as a gender equality trainer
- Enable participants to better employ learning and knowledge strategies
- Support participants to re-claim training for gender equality as a political feminist process
- Renew participants as a gender equality trainer and their commitment to gender training as a transformatory process

The programme strengthens trainers’ capacities in:

Conceptual Depth and Clarity
- Gender and development theory and practice in various themes; and global approaches to gender in development

Feminist Practices:
- Gender knowledge and knowledge making and power; reflexivity; change and resistance; and global governance of development and client relations

Training Skills and Methods
- Raining design, delivery and evaluation; communication skills; and learner-centred pedagogy

Application requirements:

- Have a minimum of three years of training experience on gender issues
- Have knowledge of gender and development and gender in public policy
- Have an institutional affiliation/experience: UN agencies, international and national NGOs, governments, academia, etc
- Demonstrate commitment to completing the six-month process of professional development
